

DUAL DIPLOMA PROGRAM

Be Prepared for the U.S. University Experience

The dual diploma program is perfect for international students looking to study abroad in the U.S. Students take five Columbia School credit courses in addition to their regular high school course load and upon completion, earn a U.S. high school diploma along with a diploma from their own country. Courses are academically challenging and taught by teachers with subject matter expertise and training in online learning. In addition to standing out from their peers in the university admissions process, students are prepared for success in U.S. universities and in the global workforce.

STUDENTS ARE PREPARED FOR ADMISSIONS AND SUCCESS

- Students earn an American high school diploma
- Students are exposed to English-based curriculum, including AP courses and other college level courses
- Students are taught by highly qualified teachers who are subject area experts and trained in online learning
- Students build confidence in self-expression and communication skills
- Students are ready for university
- Students are provided the resources and guidance to overcome U.S. university admissions challenges
- Graduates of the dual diploma program are eligible for earned admission at one partner universities
